I turn business needs into clear engineering decisions, give teams room to own the work, and build the processes that keep releases moving.

Selected work

- OOZZ: managed four developers and continued to contribute to architecture and code for manufacturing, inventory and order management.
- OOZZ: helped take a new manufacturing operation from prototypes and pilot batches to in-house production across a growing business.
- BigFoot: evolved sales and production systems as the company expanded, including franchise permissions and multiple warehouses.
- Designed Jira workflows with automations, access permissions and rules for different issue types. Also worked with Trello and Confluence.
- NewMindStart: documented complex workflows and rebuilt the release process to reuse artifacts across platforms.
